

Planting the Standard

All hail Columbus! Behold the great navigator as he lands. The perils of the deep are past. The clouds of fear have vanished. The night of gloom has ended. In the heavens the sun of success shines resplendent. Morning has dawned.

Imperiously the banner of haughty Spain greets the daylight. Upon its fluttering folds are inscribed the destinies of a new world. Its gleaming surface marks a long advance in the evolution of the human race. It tells a story of prophecy unparalleled, of development unapproached in the fullness of recorded time. It crowns with triumph the efforts of genius.

The World's Fair contained no finer statue of the great discoverer than this colossal figure. It commanded from its pedestal the eastern entrance to the Administration building. The majesty of its dimensions, the vigor and aggressiveness of its expression and the artistic finish of its composition made it admired as a genuine sculptural triumph.

Another Standard Proudly Displayed

Dr. Price's Cream Baking Powder

A Standard of Excellence for Forty Years.

It was the standard of unequalled strength, perfect purity and wholesome results. The award to Dr. Price's of highest honors at the Fair furnishes conclusive evidence of its superiority over all other baking powders.

AFTER TWENTY YEARS.

Mrs. Mary Rodd Wants a Divorce From Her Half-Indian Husband.

After twenty years of married life Mary E. Rodd has concluded that she wants a divorce from John L. Rodd. She charges him with neglect of duty, cruelty and habitual drunkenness as well as other more serious offenses. On one occasion, she says, her husband threatened to kill her. Mrs. Rodd wants the custody of their six children, who range in age from six months to 17 years. She also wants alimony. Her husband, who is a half Indian, owns 320 acres on the Pottawatomie reservation and has many horses and stock.

Boys, Girls and "Kidds" and School Childrens Attention.

In the window of the Green Coal Co's office, 532 Kansas avenue, are two watches—30 year gold filled cases, first class movements, reliable time keepers, that will be given freely and gladly on December 20, 1894, to two pupils of the public schools of this city.

What for? For ads. You see, one is for the boy and one for the girl giving us the best idea for an advertisement.

Said advertisement can be all word matter or can be part sketch and part word matter such as can be used in our daily papers in a space 6½x10½ inches.

Now, boys and girls come and see the watches, then go home and make your ad, put it in a sealed envelope marked competitive ad and leave it at our office any time before December 15, 1894.

Also, inside put your name, address and age. You wonder at the request for your age. Well you see we do not dare take the responsibility of deciding which is the best, so the decision will be made by three members of the board of education and they have wisely decided to take into account the age of the contributor in making the award. So you see boys and girls and "kidds," you are all in it—all have an even chance. Go.

A Suit to Recover on Old Railroad Bonds Decided Against the Township.

The case of the "Travelers" Insurance company against Oswego township, LaBette county, has been tried in the United States circuit court and was concluded last evening.

The suit was brought to recover on the coupons of $20,000 worth of bonds issued by the township to the Memphis, Carthage & Northern railroad, which the township claims were never voted on. The railroad was never built. The case was tried before, but was appealed and sent back for retrial.

JOHN DONOVAN OF BAY.

He is the Entire Democratic Minority in the Coming Michigan Legislature.

The Democratic minority in the Michigan legislature was born in Hamilton, Ont., 51 years ago and bears the name of John Donovan.

During the coming session he will play a game of legislative solitaire, for he was the only Democratic member of the legislature elected when the recent Republican cyclone swept over the country.

He will hold all the party caucuses, dictate the party membership of committees and cast the entire party vote for United States senators when successors to the late Senator Stockbridge and Senator James McMillan are chosen. He is all that is left of the noble Democratic six hundred after the recent Michigan bankruptcy. Mr. Donovan will creditably represent his party, for he is a man of sterling integrity and a total abstainer, although not a prohibitionist.

He crossed to the United States when a small boy and grew to manhood in Youngstown, N. Y., where he obtained a good education and earned a livelihood as a teacher in the public schools. Twenty-one years ago he married a Jamestown (N. Y.) girl, and their only child died at the age of 8 years. In 1865 Mr. Donovan removed to Michigan, where he taught public and parochial schools for a number of years. He then became a builder in Bay City, did his work conscientiously and has become well off in this world's goods. He is a Catholic and a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the Catholic Mutual Benefit association. He is a resident of a strong A. P. A. district, but this fact did not prevent his election.

During the recent campaign he conducted a canvass that was remarkable for honesty. He refused to donate to strikers and political clubs, and even refrained from "setting up" drinks and cigars for "the boys," declaring that if he could not be elected without buying votes he did not desire to go to Lansing. He promises to make his presence felt in the legislature even if he is a single Democrat among 131 Republicans. The Sweet Singer of Michigan or some other equally gifted poet of the Wolverine State has thus immortalized Donovan in verse:

A green spot in the desert, an islet in the sea. A single small green budlet upon a blasted tree. A Cruise minus Friday, a bright spot in a haze. The man without a party, the boss without a slave. The chief without an army, an estate without an heir. A prisoner in a dungeon at a game of solitaire. The unit earth with but a single tantalizing ray. Is not by half so lonely as John Donovan of Bay.

WOMEN WHO HOLD OFFICE.

Three Have Been Elected to Colorado's Legislature.

The equal suffrage experiment is having a thorough trial in Colorado, and one of the results of the recent political battle was the election of three women to the legislature, and a fourth was chosen superintendent of public instruction.

Mrs. Angenette J. Peavey, the new superintendent of public instruction, is a woman of considerable ability and force of character. She was left a widow during the war and has since supported herself and her daughters by teaching school and doing newspaper work. She has been a resident of Colorado about ten years and was placed on the Republican ticket during the recent campaign because of her activity in organizing Republican clubs among the women voters.

Mrs. Clara Cressingham, one of the fair members of the lower branch of the legislature, is a daughter of a prominent citizen of Brooklyn. Her husband was compelled to locate in Colorado on account of his health, and since she became a resident of Denver she has been prominent in bettering the condition of the schools in her district. During the campaign she took to the stump and that she made a very favorable impression upon the voters is evidenced by the fact that she was elected.

Mrs. Frances Klock, another member of the legislature, is a native of North Lee, Mass. At the age of 15 she was removed by her parents to Fond du Lac, Wis. Her father fell fighting for the Union at Vicksburg, her brother died in the service, and her husband rose from the ranks to a captaincy, but left the army with shattered health. The couple removed to Colorado, where Mrs. Klock has since been prominently identified with the Woman's Relief corps of the G. A. R. She received a heavy soldier's vote.

Mrs. Carrie C. Holly of Pueblo, the third representative, lived in New York until a few years ago, when she removed to Colorado.

To Explore the Northern Sea. Denmark has determined to thoroughly examine the Greenland and Iceland seas during the summers of 1895 and 1896. Commander Wandell will have charge of the expedition.

BICYCLE NEWS.

Items of Interest to Wheelmen Here and Elsewhere.

The reduction in the price of all standard wheels from $135 and $150 to $100, which has been announced by the makers this month, is liable to create another big wave in favor of cycling, the Topeka dealers think. It is believed that there will be many accessions to the Topeka cycling fraternity by reason of the change, and in expectation of such an exigency, one Topeka dealer has already contracted for 50 standard wheels.

This is not the time of year, however, when people purchase bicycles. Those disposed to invest show a tendency to wait until the 1895 models have made their appearance. It is believed that there will be but few changes in next season's model. It will be lighter, although it would seem impossible to reduce the weight of last season's wheels. The tread will also be narrower.

All the leading bicycle manufacturers in the country hold a bicycle show in Chicago the second week in January. At this show samples of wheels, improved details and wheelmen's sundries are shown for the benefit of the bicycle trade the country over. William Taylor and Otto Townsend will attend this exhibition.

Hunt and Stevenson, the Topeka racers, do not propose to lose their racing ability during the winter months. They are training almost every day at the Topeka Athletic club's gymnasium.

During last summer and fall sixteen Topeka bicycles were stolen, only two of which were recovered. The Topeka wheelmen, while possessed of no vigilance committee, are alert to a man for stolen wheels, and each bicycle store has become a detective agency in this particular line. The officers in their efforts to recover stolen wheels, and protect those that haven't been stolen yet have the cordial support of the Topeka wheelmen. The cyclists have no local organization, however, the last vestige of the Topeka bicycle club disappearing when the wheelmen as a body went into the Topeka Athletic association.

A REBEL FLAG.

It Didn't Swing Proudly in the Breeze at the Crawford Last Night.

The announcement that a southern company would play a war drama at the Crawford last evening brought out a fair sized crowd, and there were a good many G. A. R. people in the audience. The left box was occupied by a party of them "complimentary" by Mr. Hendley. The party consisted of S. F. Grosch, commander of Lincoln post; W. H. Ward, commander of Topeka post; A. M. Fuller, C. H. Haskell, W. W. Denison, J. M. Miller, George C. Stoiker, Harry Lupton, G. W. Greenwood, W. H. Hornaday, J. E. Stewart and Willie Edson. In the audience were Department Adjutant Charles Hutton of Wichita, E. P. Cochrane of Cottonwood Falls and Judge Frank Doster of Marion. They seemed to be well pleased.

The piece was "The Lost Cause." The audience seemed to enjoy the play. There will be a change of bill tonight, and "East Lynne" tomorrow matinee.

Tomorrow afternoon and evening Albini's Empire Entertainment Co. will be at the Grand in all sorts of specialties, gymnastic, musical and sleight of hand. Albini is a "card king" so the bills announce and he has surrounded himself with a clever company of twenty specialty people, the papers say that are capable of amusing an audience.
